

Recycling and Treatment of e-waste

In general, a handler who conducts specific treatment on e-waste (recycler) is subject to additional DTSC notification and reporting requirements. California's hazardous waste regulations define the word "treatment" very broadly, to mean any process which changes or is designed to change the composition of any hazardous waste or any component that makes up the hazardous waste.

The specific e-waste treatment activities that trigger additional requirements are indicated in the table below. Treatment activities that do not have additional requirements include the removal of user-replaceable components and the removal of CRTs from electronic devices. However, these removal activities do require management standards which can be found in Sections 66273.71 and 66273.72(b)*. E-waste and hazardous waste residues must be managed according to Section 66273.33.5.
