Introduction:

During the second quarter (April – June, 2017) S. Groner Associates’ (SGA), working on behalf of the Thermostat Recycling Corporation (TRC) focused on implementing the following tasks from the DTSC-approved Outreach Plan and Pilot Plan as a part of the California TRC Program. The following report outlines those efforts undertaken during this quarter broken into audiences.

In addition, after the quarter was completed, TRC received from DTSC the approval (with conditions) to implement modifications listed in TRC’s Program Modification Plan. TRC is currently working on putting those modifications in place and will update DTSC further in the 2017 third quarter report for activities completed from July 1 through September 30, 2017 and provide periodic updates as these program elements are executed.

HVAC Contractors

Outreach Emails

SGA continued an email campaign to encourage eligible heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) contractors to order a collection bin for mercury thermostats. A total of 846 HVAC contractor emails were used as the target audience for the campaign. An email was sent on 5/11/2017 in collaboration with Hoover’s email marketing service. A monetary incentive was used as the primary motivator in the email copy and headline. For the 5/11 email send out, the list was split in half to A/B test two different headlines: “Get Rewarded to Recycle Old Thermostats at {-CompanyName-}” (test A) or “Easily Recycle Old Thermostats and Get Rewarded” (test B) to see if personalization in the headline would increase open rates.

Emails and an emphasis on online sign-ups offers a supplemental outreach strategy that may appeal to some contractors who are unavailable or unwilling to engage over the phone. Furthermore, emails inherently offer concrete data (e.g., open rates, clicks, unsubscribe), which is ideal in assessing the effectiveness of this tactic.

Household Hazardous Waste (HHW)

HHW Outreach

All HHW facilities in CA accept mercury thermostats regardless of whether or not they have a TRC bin. However, only thermostats in TRC bins are counted towards its total thermostats collected number. Residents are accustomed to taking their hazardous waste to these HHW centers and turning to HHWs for information about what is considered hazardous. HHW centers are managed at the County level and in some cases, a large city (like Los Angeles) operates its own centers. Because of this, all of the centers vary in regards to the sophistication of their outreach efforts to the public. For example, some centers may have a full-blown social media presence with Facebook and Twitter pages while other centers may only have a PDF flyer available online. As part of the engagement with these programs, two primary actions were taken into consideration: (1) host a TRC collection bin at their facility (2) help to increase awareness of mercury thermostat recycling among their customers. During the months of April through June of 2017, we focused on the second of the two actions by taking the following steps:

1. Emailed 70 HHW centers currently working with TRC whose websites lacked or had no information regarding mercury thermostats and TRC;
2. Called 23 HHW centers of those 70 whose websites had no information regarding mercury thermostats and TRC;
3. Gauged interest of 5 HHWs in TRC incentive program for thermostat recycling.

Results:

1. Obtained commitments from 4 of the emailed and 10 of the called HHWs to update their website information to include mercury thermostats as accepted items and to post a link to www.recyclehomethermostats.org.
2. Uncovered the following barriers:
 - Response - calling elicits significantly more responses than emails, however some HHWs were unenthusiastic to be speaking with a TRC representative in either form of communication;
 - Space - smaller bins would accommodate the small number of thermostats received and free up more space in HHWs;
 - Time - HHWs receive too many items and do not have the time to put every item they accept on their website;
 - Staff - HHWs do not have enough staff to take on the work for an incentive program for an item they rarely see being turned in;
 - Turnover time for payments to residents who turn in mercury thermostats is too long.

Despite these barriers, most HHWs reported no issues with the recycling process and working with TRC other than the fact that they simply don't receive many mercury thermostats each year. Additionally, a successful strategy in advertising mercury thermostat collection included sending out a quarterly HHW publication to residents in which mercury thermostat recycling was advertised.

Another barrier that we encountered from specific HHW's in cities such as San Francisco, has been the question over the chain of disposal of the mercury itself. This quarter we continued conversations with San Francisco's Recology to review and clarify TRC's chain of disposal and continue to work towards solidifying a partnership.

Retailers

To date, retailers have been a very small component of the mercury thermostat takeback recycling efforts (TRC received 0 thermostats from retail partners in 2015). In an effort to increase the collection of mercury thermostats throughout the state and provide a more accessible and public facing recycling site to consumers, we have targeted thermostat-carrying hardware stores throughout California as new collection site partners. Through conducting outreach calls we secured a total of 50 retail partners (19 acquired this quarter) as TRC collection sites via verbal agreements. To support our current partners, we sent POP (Point of Purchase) toolkits containing educational and promotional materials to display in their stores helping to advertise the program and their status as a collection site. Follow-up emails were sent to prospective partner stores who expressed interest in the TRC program, but were unable to commit to signing up during the call. We also used these calls to learn more about potential barriers to program participation and have listed the most frequently stated motivators and barriers from retail managers below.

Results:

1. Total Retailers Contacted: 233
2. Retailers Requested Bin: 41
3. Acceptance rate: 18%
4. 19 new retail partnerships during April-June
5. Addressed space issue by creating 1-gallon pail that is easier to store in small retail locations
6. Created TRC Retail Toolkit (see appendix) and distributed to pilot partners, each includes:
 - Window cling to indicate to customers that the location recycles mercury thermostats;
 - Shelf talker to indicate to customers that the location recycles mercury thermostats;
 - FAQ sheet on how to identify a mercury thermostat and how to safely ship and store container;
 - Letter from TRC to managers explaining the recycling program and their role in it.

Top Barriers:

1. Lack of floor space for small stores (almost always remedied when told that TRC offers a 1 gallon pail size to accommodate this);
2. Don't receive enough thermostats to make the program "worth it";
3. Customers unaware that a particular store is a collection site.

Top Motivators:

1. The program is entirely free;
2. Easy addition to recycling programs the stores are already participating in;
3. Helps the environment.

Pilot Program

Outreach Messaging Pilot

While various mercury thermostat pilot programs in other states have tested the use of financial incentives to spur increased collection rates, little data exists on how nonmonetary incentives and messaging strategies can contribute to TRC's goals. Although the role of nonmonetary incentives may be perceived as less important or urgent as financial incentives because they can seem more subjective and difficult to track, we know that long term shifts in sustainable behavior require changing people’s minds and perceived social norms through effective outreach and messaging.

Using A/B split testing to assess the reception of different messages devised to promote proper recycling habits and reduce illegal disposal among Californian residents, we have been able develop a better understanding of what messages stick in our audiences’ minds and motivate them to action.

Understanding what messages motivate California residents to recycle their mercury thermostats will enable TRC to maximize its impact with a finite budget by strategically tailoring its outreach strategy and messaging to prompt new public perceptions and norms around improper mercury thermostat disposal.

During the pilot A/B test messaging campaigns run through Google and Facebook ads during April to June of 2017, we found that the ads focused on safety (“Old thermostat at home? Protect your family. Find a free recycling center near you.”) were most effective in capturing consumers’ attention (impressions) and in driving consumers to click on the ad.

Retail Pilot Program

In the one-year pilot program we are testing immediate monetary incentives in nine retailers throughout the state of California. With this pilot we aim to provide conclusive data on the most effective incentive dollar amount per recycled mercury thermostat. During the second quarter of 2017, we continued the pilot program with nine hardware stores to provide financial incentives in the form of immediate in-store credit for consumers and contractors.

TRC Retail Pilot Cards left at register at in thermostat aisle

Results:

The following results were achieved by TRC in the second quarter of 2017 to initiate and maintain a robust Retail Collection Pilot that: engages participating retailers, increases overall collection rates and provides conclusive evidence on what the appropriate financial incentive amount should be for TRC's California program:

1. Maintained partnerships with 12 hardware stores who signed agreements for year-long participation in the program;
2. Created coupon templates for retailers to provide for customers in exchange for recycling a mercury thermostat;
3. Created window clings to include in the TRC Retail Toolkits;
4. Provided TRC Retail Toolkit to partners (i.e. shelf-talker, window cling, information about how to identify and properly dispose of mercury thermostats, and collection logs to keep track of how customers found out about the program (see appendix));

Through a quarterly check in call, we were able to receive qualitative data regarding store managers perceived barriers and motivators to participating in the program.

Top Barriers:

1. Thermostat sales are low in hardware stores so extra work of being a pilot partner will yield little financial benefit for stores;
2. General lack of awareness of importance of mercury thermostat recycling among employees and customers and how it may affect their everyday lives;
3. The $5-$10 incentive is not a significant motivator for customers;
4. There is no incentive for the retailers themselves to participate in the program;
5. This is not a priority for managers therefore it is not a priority for staff because it does not help them achieve their main goals – making sales and providing quality customer service;
6. Considered a nonissue because they see and hear about so few mercury thermostats needing to be recycled.

Top Motivators:

1. Recognition for being an eco-friendly business;
2. Public relations through TRC marketing;
3. Ability to provide customers with guidance regarding mercury thermostat recycling;
4. Ability to include information on mercury thermostat recycling in store promotions and on store social media.

As part of our Retail Pilot we will hold two events in our Southern California locations, where we increase the rebate amount from $5 to $10, and observe and measure any change in the number of thermostats returned. Each store offered a $10 in-store credit incentive for every mercury thermostat returned to a participating store during the two-week event period. The first event ran from May 5 to May 19, 2017 (15 days), with the second event planned for Q3'17.

To promote the first round of events, social media event pages were created for each store on the TRC Facebook page (facebook.com/tstatrecycle) and promoted via geo-targeted Facebook ads. Additional promotion was done for the West Hollywood location including: print advertising with the local newspaper, The Beverly Press and a promotional email sent out to residents through the West Hollywood Environmental Services. The collection events garnered a higher number of thermostats return than we typically see for a 2-week period of time. The significant difference we saw was the difference in thermostats turned in to the West Hollywood location vs. the other less promoted locations. The West Hollywood location received 7 thermostats, while the other two locations received 1, revealing a positive correlation between promotion and thermostats collected.

Household Hazardous Waste Pilot Program

In the first quarter of 2017, TRC initiated a one-year pilot with three HHW county programs across the State of California--San Bernardino County (Southern), Santa Clara County (Central), and Del Norte County (Northern)--to measure the effectiveness of a $10 mail-in-rebate incentive to drive residents to recycle mercury thermostats. This is in response to the October 7, 2016 Approval with Modification Letter from DTSC:

2. TRC is to implement a pilot project that provides a $10 per thermostat incentive payment (using either a mail-in rebate or gift card) to anyone who turns in thermostats at household hazardous waste collection facilities. This type of pilot project was proposed in TRC's May 10, 2016 draft Pilot Programs Plan but removed from its August 8, 2016 submittal.

During the second quarter of 2017, TRC worked with the participating HHW program managers to continue to reinforce the program and its goals. Out of all the target audiences, HHW program managers have been particularly supportive in TRC's program goals as it aligns with their goal of effectively collecting hazardous waste from residents. A challenge that we continued to observe this quarter was the use of rebates as an incentive. During our quarterly check-ins with our location in Santa Clara, the manager let us know that during turn-in events, residents drive through and drop off their items. The idea being that the drive through is quick and easy for residents, with the trade-off being that they do not enter the HHW facility and fill out the rebate form. Many of the residents did not feel that a $10 rebate was substantial enough to warrant getting out of their car and going into the facility to fill out the rebate forms and simply choose to not redeem the rebate. This echoes the feedback we provided last quarter where it was reported that the delayed rebate simply didn't seem "worth the hassle". One suggestion from an HHW manager was providing a thermostat exchange, giving customers a new digital thermostat in exchange for their old mercury thermostat.

Wholesaler Pilot Program

In the second quarter of 2017, TRC continued a one-year pilot with 12 wholesalers across the State to measure the effectiveness of monetary incentives on wholesalers' return rates. This is in response to the October 7, 2016 Approval with Modification Letter from DTSC:

- 3. TRC is to implement a pilot project that provides $100 mail-in rebate for each bin returned by wholesalers that contain 40 or more thermostats, and for bins with less than 40 thermostats, a pro-rated amount of $2.50 for each thermostat in the returned bin. Although a pilot project of this type was not included in the May 10, 2016 or the August 8, 2016 pilot project plans, DTSC notes that the return rate for wholesaler return of collection bins has remained around 55%. A return rate this low, in the primary participant group that has been the focus of TRC's program, is troubling, and it is important for TRC to explore methods to improve the collections in these bins, and the rate of their return.

We selected and partnered with 12 current wholesaler collection sites for the pilot program and used quota sampling to ensure that participating wholesalers met the following criteria:

1. Had a combined, baseline return rate of 55% (for a representative sample)
2. At least 4 who have been in the program for more than 2 years
3. At least 3 returned more than 3 bins in the past year
4. At least 4 located in Northern California
5. At least 4 located in Southern California

We sent each participating manager a packet with instructions on how to file the new wholesaler invoice form (see appendix) to receive their check rebate after returning their TRC bin and 25 forms to send in with their bins.

Letter sent to Wholesale Managers

Hello!

Thank you for agreeing to participate in Thermostat Recycling Corporation's (TRC) Wholesaler Incentive Program. For each bin returned with 40 or more thermostats, we will provide a $100 reimbursement, or $2.50 per thermostat if the bin contains fewer than 40 thermostats. This incentive program will last until December 31, 2017.

During this year, I will be contacting you once a quarter to follow up with the program. Feel free to contact me with any questions you may have, at this email: ksingh@sga-inc.net or by calling me at 732-485-4589.

Attached you will find the Invoice Form necessary to obtain the reimbursement. These will also be sent to your store's location by mail. Please read the attached instructions, which detail how to properly submit the form to TRC.

Again, thank you for your participation!

Sincerely,

Kendra

Results:

- Quantitative findings are included as follows:
- How many total thermostats: 221
- How many bins returned: 5

Qualitative quarterly check in calls revealed wholesaler's manager's perceived barriers and motivators to participating in the program.

Top Barriers:

1. Unaware of their ability to claim an incentive;
2. Complete trust in contractors to be aware of the problem of mercury thermostats and the placing of responsibility on the contractors to complete the recycling;
3. Knowing the previous information about contractors, contractors themselves have no incentive to recycle mercury thermostats and are resistant to providing their license number;
4. Unfilled bins mean wholesalers don't return them and mercury thermostats could potentially be sitting around for months at a time.

Top Motivators:

1. Knowing that they are doing something useful to help the environment;
2. The ease of the process – leave the bin out and contractors can simply drop mercury thermostats in the bin on their way into or out of the store;
3. Having a full bin motivates them to continue the program.

Hello [-FirstName-],

As a [Primary_Industry] with at least seven employees or located within a rural area, you are eligible to receive $2.50 for each mercury thermostat you recycle. In order to be eligible for the incentive, you must have a designated thermostat recycling bin. Our records indicate that [-CompanyName-] does not currently have a bin, but the good news is that these recycling bins are complimentary for California businesses.

Why Order a Bin?

- (1) Earn $200 each time you return 80 mercury thermostats.
- (2) No cost to you! We cover all expenses, including materials and shipping.
- (3) Protect the safety of others by keeping toxic mercury out of the environment.

No Obligations or Commitments!

Order Your Bin Today

Who is Sponsoring the Program?

The California Department of Toxic Substances Control oversees the program and the Thermostat Recycling Corporation (a non-profit organization funded by the thermostat manufacturers) implements the program in an effort to capture all unwanted mercury thermostats.

Earn money for recycling unwanted thermostats! Order your bin or get more information at recyclethermostats.org/request or call 562.597.0205 for more information.

Frequently Asked Questions for California Contractors

Q. How do I order a bin?

A. You can order your free bin with our easy online sign-up form or by calling us at 562-597-0205.

Q. How do I know if I'm eligible for a bin?

A. Any independent business that comes into contact with mercury thermostats and that has 7 or more service technicians, or services a rural area, is eligible to directly participate in the program. Only businesses based in California are eligible to receive $2.50 for each recycled thermostat.

Q. How large is the bin?

A. There are two bin sizes so that you can select the one that best suits the needs of your business. The large, rectangular bin is 22" long by 13" wide by 13" tall and fits approximately 100 thermostats. The small, 1-gallon pail is 8" wide by 7" tall and fits approximately 15 thermostats.

Q. Do I need to fill up the bin before I can return it?

A. No, you can send the bin back at any time. We do recommend that you return the bin as soon as it is full, or at a minimum of once per year.

Q. What does it cost?

A. There is no cost for eligible California-based contractors to order a bin to recycle mercury thermostats. All of the shipping and materials expenses are paid for by the Thermostat Recycling Corporation. In fact, contractors in California are eligible to receive $2.50 for each recycled mercury thermostat.

Q. How much can I earn?

A. If you are based in California and sign up to receive a bin from the Thermostat Recycling Corporation, you are eligible to earn $2.50 for each mercury thermostat you collect and return. There is no limit on how many times you can return your bin for recycling and on how many mercury thermostats you can recycle for the cash incentive.

Q. Do I have to participate in the program?

A. No, Participation is voluntary. Keep in mind, however, that it is illegal to dispose of a mercury thermostat in solid waste in California.

Preparing TRC Collection Containers for Shipment

When your collection container is full, or when it has been one year since at least one mercury thermostat has been sitting in it, please use the following steps to prepare your container for shipping:

1. Check to make sure the items in the collection container are mercury-containing thermostats only. Remove any unacceptable items. If you find anything besides whole mercury thermostats, please contact TRC for special shipping instructions. Never accept jars or any other containers of liquid mercury as those are hazardous waste and cannot be shipped in our bins.

UNACCEPTABLE ITEMS

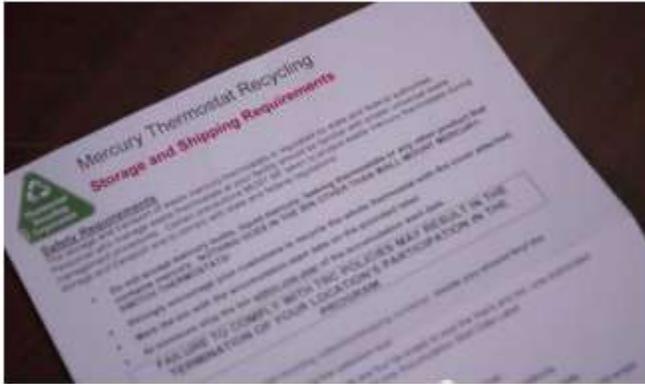

2. Enclose the thermostats in the liner, use the provided nylon tie to tie the liner, close the bin and secure it by using the remaining nylon ties on the two ends of the lid.

Retail Outreach/Pilot Toolkits

3. Review the instructions that came with your bin prior to closing the collection tub in preparation for shipping. It is very important to neatly write your return address on the pre-paid shipping label, and use indelible ink if possible.

4. Attach the shipping label and call the shipping company whose phone number is listed on the label to schedule a pick-up. Make sure to get a tracking number from the driver at pick-up to help TRC track the shipment if an issue occurs.

Does my thermostat contain mercury?

If the thermostat uses a dial or lever, odds are it contains mercury and needs to be recycled. Containing between 3 and 12 grams mercury, thermostats are likely the device in homes that have the most mercury today.

Examples of mercury thermostats:

If so, it needs to be recycled. It's the law.*

California Retail Pilot Program

Dear Retail Pilot Partner:

Thank you for participating in the Thermostat Recycling Corporation's (TRC) Retail Pilot Program. As a Retail Pilot Partner, you will be provided with a green bin to collect in-tact mercury thermostats from your customers. In exchange for each mercury thermostat brought in, retailers will provide customers with an immediate form of in-store credit of $5 or $10 (depending on the store). TRC will reimburse retailers for the costs of the in-store credit and assume all costs of shipping the bins for proper disposal.

Reimbursement Instructions

TRC bins should be shipped when the bin is full or within one year of the date the first mercury thermostat was collected. Collection sites will receive a new bin once the old bin is returned. Complete the following steps with your three-part invoice form to properly dispose of your mercury thermostats and receive your reimbursement check:

1. Include the yellow copy in the green bin with the thermostats. Use the shipping label included in your bin when it is ready to be processed.
2. Mail or email the white copy to TRC headquarters at 500 Office Center Drive, Suite 400, Fort Washington, PA 19034, trc@thermostat-recycle.org.
3. Retain the pink copy for your store records.

Once the bin is received and the mercury thermostats are accounted for, TRC will process all payment forms and administer a payment directly to the store. The bin will then return to you with new materials to begin the process again. This pilot program will last until December 31, 2017.

If you have any questions regarding this incentive program, please call us at 1-888-266-0550 or email us at trc@thermostat-recycle.org for more information.

Thank you,

California HHW Pilot Program

Dear HHW Pilot Partner:

Thank you for participating in the Thermostat Recycling Corporation's (TRC) HHW Pilot Program. As a HHW Pilot Partner, you will be provided with a green bin to collect intact mercury thermostats from your residents, a toolkit with directions and payment forms, and promotional materials to promote this one-year pilot to your community. In exchange for each mercury thermostat brought in, you will provide residents with a payment form to fill out so that they can receive a $10 check per mercury thermostat recycled at your facility. TRC will assume all costs of shipping the bins for proper disposal. This pilot program will last until December 31, 2017.

Reimbursement Instructions

TRC bins should be shipped when the bin is full or within one year of the date the first mercury thermostat was collected. Collection sites will receive a new bin once the old bin is returned. Please review the following steps to properly dispose of mercury thermostats and ensure your residents receive their reimbursement checks:

1. Receive mercury thermostat from resident and gently remove cover to make sure it contains mercury ampoules. Residents will not be reimbursed for non-mercury thermostats.
2. Provide resident with two-part form and plastic bag (maximum of 10 t-stats per bag). There is no limit to the number of mercury thermostats residents can be reimbursed for.
3. Include the filled-out white copy and the mercury thermostat in the plastic bag before placing into the green bin. Residents should retain the yellow copy for their records. Use the shipping label included in your bin when it is ready to be processed.
4. Once the bin is received and the mercury thermostats are accounted for, TRC will process all payment forms and administer checks directly to the residents.
5. The bin will then return to you with new materials to begin the process again.
